Williams Crushes Columbia Under 25-0 Score—Colgate Trounces Cornell by 21 to 0

Captain Boynton Dashes 90 Yards for Touchdown

Leader of Visiting Team Also Tears Off Gain of Seventy Yards in Third Period; Blue and White Tries Desperately to Score Near End

Williams crushed Columbia on the gridiron at South Field yesterday afternoon under a score of 25 to 0 in a game that was filled with a series of thrills for a cheering crowd of 12,000 that jammed the stands and overflowed, thousands deep, on to the running track. Columbia was cutplayed all the way from the first whistle, the Williamstown boys making a total of four touchdowns, one in the first period, one in the Chief glory for the decisive triumph of the Purple eleven must go to Captain Benny Boynton, the sensational uarterback. On the kickoff at the tart of the third period Boynton rabbed Applebaum's long, twisting unt on the 10-yard line, tucked the all securely under his arm and started or the Columbia goel nosts 90 yards sidestepping, hurdling, until I cleared the way 40 yards dow eld. Then it looked as though I fail, for Quigley, the fiery C is quarterback, loomed directly ath, crouched for the tackle.

Columbia had one splendid chance to store a touchdown in the middle of the hird period, when Canapary, at middle hird period, when Canapary, at middle hird period, when Canapary, at middle of the hird period, when Canapary, at middle of the hird period, when Canapary, at middle of the hird period, when Canapary at middle of the catch it on the 15-yard line. A moment later Columbia can the hird period, when Canapary interpeted a forward pass from Boynton. The Blue and White held for downs on the 18-yard line, forcing Boynton to try a goal from the field. The try me to maught when the Williams leader made a poor kick, Canapary at middle of the period, when Canapary had not been standing that Canapary had not been standing was called back, and it was explained that Canapary had not been standing when the pass was made.

In the last period Columbia was penalized 15 yards for rough work, a Columbius 45 yard line as the whish and Columbius for the period, when Canapary had not been standing that the period with the pigskin on Columbius and pumping on Boynton when the Williams captain had one splendid chance to be the dark of the period, when Canapary had not been standing that the stand was called back, and it was explained that Canapary had not been standing five yards beeind the line of scrimpage when the pass was made.

in the last half of the fourth period, and when bucking the steel-like line of the Williams team did not bring returns, resorted to a punting duel, in which Boynton had the better of Shaw which Boynton had the better of Shaw and Thornton.

Following a punt of forty-five yards of Boynton's to Columbia's 25-yard line, there was a mix-up on the Blue and White signals and Columbia fumbled the ball. Beckett, who had gone in at right half for Burger in the Williams line-up, smashed his way through the opposing interference and picked up the ball. Half a dozen Columbia men were after him, but Beckett snot over the chalk marks and scored the fourth and final touchdown of the game. Lasell kicked the goal, and the score was Williams, 25; Columbia, 0.

Columbia had one splendid chance to score a touchdown in the middle of the third period, when Canapary, at midfield, shot a beautiful forward pass at a sharp angle across the field to Weinstein, who had dashed down the field to catch it on the 15-yard line. He did, and dashed his way past the Williams men for the goal line.

As though he had not accomplished deeds great enough for his alma mater.

Country to was directly responsible for he third touchdown. Standing on Columbia team's left side; the Williams to the third touchdown. Standing on Columbia team's left side; the Williams captain heaved a light hing part clear across the field for a listance of thirty yards to Codding who was lying in whit for just this day and dashed over the goal line for he touchdown. Boynton, on his third team and fargo was a bear a goody margin, and the score of the touchdown missed.

Columbia tried desperately to score and the score and s even threaten the goal line.

Princeton's line showed up poorly throughout the game, failing to open holes and allowing many rushes to gain ground.

Stanley Keck, starting the first game of the season, kicked off. Rochester, by two end runs that found holes in the Tiger line, made a first down that put the ball on the Rochester 20-yard line, Lourie, the Tiger's star halfback, was hurt tackling Metcalf for a loss on the next play. Knox took his place.

Rube Ford Star Defeat Aggies

Stevens Technical experienced little three touchdowns.

Bloss and Deghuce assisted in the scoring, each crossing the line, while Goodale executed a drop kick from the 30-yard line. Hopwood was the shining light for the losers, getting off his punts in good fashion.

Stevens won the toss up and elected to kick. Carlson kicked off throughout the game for Stevens. The New Englanders tried to rush the Tech line at the start but failed, and punted to safety. The Engineers kept the ball in their opponents territory throughout the first quarter, but failed to score except by a safety. Ford, the fullback, made the first touchdown, when he carried the ball through the line on a short plunge. Goodale missed the goal.

Bloss then made a 40-yard run round right end for the second touchdown, but Goodale missed the goal.

Cawley, formerly of Colby, did good running for the sailors and also passed cleverly. Both sides made substantial gains with the forward pass, and both were successful in getting the ball by intercepting the long tosses of their opponents.

but Goodale mised again on the kick for goal. The third touchdown was contributed by Ford when the ball had been taken to within a few yards of the Aggies' goal. Bloss tried his hand at kicking and made his point.

One touchdown marked the only scoring of the last quarter. Ford again pushed his way through two yards for the count. The line-up:

Anderson's Fine Playing Brings Ithacans to Grief

Brilliant Quarterback Contributes Spectacular Dash of 65 Yards for Score After Making Forward Pass That Nets Touchdown; Losers Fight Gamely

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 18 .- Colgate overpowered Cornell by the score of 21 to 0 here this afternoon, outclassing the Ithacans in everything but gameness, and giving a splendid exhibition of a powerful and versatile attack. The Colgate backfield was a shifty, as speedy, as clever and as powerful a combination as Cornell crowds have seen in many a year.

period. Way, a halfback, caught the first kick-off on his 10-yard line and eluded the Dartmouth tacklers.

A few minutes later he picked up a fumbled ball on Penn State's 15-yard mark and dashed over the Green's line for the second time.

Dartmouth scored a touchdown in each of the first two periods by hammering holes in Penn State's line. In the third period Holbrook broke through the Penn State defence at midfield, pushed off three tacklers and went over with the winning touchdown.
